COUNCIL ANSWERS QUESTIONS REGARDING BY-LAW 112

Several questions regarding By-Law 112, have been asked since last week. We, the Council, feel duty-bound to set out the answers at this time, in case these questions may be in the minds of others also:

- WHY SPEND MONEY ON THE CURLING RINK?
This building is not the "Curling Rink". This is the Drayton Valley Recreational Centre. It will be available to any community groups for a variety of activities. In this respect the Recreation Board envisages many plans, including roller skating, Volley Ball, Basket ball, table tennis, and other sponsored activities. It will be rented to the Curling Club during curling season at $1,500.00 per season; this money to go into recreation funds of the Board. It may be leased, if available, to any organization for any approved program or activity, by the evening. All revenues collected from the many expected activities will add to recreation funds.
- ARE WE PUTTING IN ARTIFICIAL ICE?
We are not putting in artificial ice. We have agreed to permit the Curling Club to install artificial ice in our building in return for their agreement to install a concrete floor at their expense to make the building of year round value to the Recreation Board.
- WHAT IS THE RECREATION BOARD?
In any recreational program the first thing the Alberta Government requires is the setting up of a Recreation Board... responsible for the recreation and acting under authority of Council and responsible to Council. It is not responsible for the curling. The present newly formed Recreation Board is not to be confused with the now inactive "Recreation Association" which was associated with the original efforts at building a curling rink.
- WHY DID THE COST EXCEED $10,000.00?
In 1957 the ratepayers endorsed the building of a $30,000.00 building, approving the provision of $10,000.00 to this end. The balance was to be realized from contributions. Promised contributions from various companies did not materialize to the extent indicated in the original surveys. The choice arose... to stop work on the building... or to protect the original investment and complete what had been started.

It is not the wish at this time to point any blame. It is only the wish to face the fact that the Town takes over a building which is only partly paid for, and requires some finishing. It is our opinion that with premises at a premium in town we will certainly find that this building will provide much of the needed space for recreational plans as well as recreational income, to provide further activities for all age groups.

THE METHOD OF PAYMENT FOR THE AMOUNT OUTSTANDING AGAINST THE RECREATIONAL CENTRE, AS OFFERED IN BY-LAW 112, IS MERELY THE MOST EXPEDIENT, MOST SATISFACTORY AND STRAIGHTFORWARD METHOD OF HANDLING THIS PROBLEM.

IT IS ONLY POSSIBLE TO OFFER THIS SOLUTION DUE TO AN INCREASED INCOME THIS YEAR FROM OUR BUILDING BOOM.

If there are any questions please contact any of the Council or the Mayor.
Signify your approval of this action by voting YES- I, to Bylaw 112.

THE DRAYTON VALLEY TOWN COUNCIL

LEGION MOVES IN BUILDING.

Drayton Valley Canadian Legion moved in their large building from Lodgepole, which will be remodeled into a spacious and attractive hall for the use of the Legion. The building was the former Star Cafe, in Lodgepole.
(Next column)

It has been located on the Legion lot, just west of the Conservation Board office.

Drayton Valley Legion will also start the ball rolling again this year in the Red Cross Campaign. The Red Cross drive will be conducted by the Legion in cooperation with other civic groups in this area.

KEN MASON'S COLUMN:

Social Creditors, often accused of being too distant and aloof, whooped it up last week at a giant birthday party for Premier Ernest C. Manning.

There were some 1,600 Albertans there to sing "Happy Birthday, Mr. Manning". (not dear Ernie, or dear Ernest). There was community singing, free birthday cake and coffee for everyone, a few brief speeches and even birthday presents.

The premier grinned like a six-year-old, unwrapping his first electric train when the master of ceremonies presented him with a valuable shorthorn heifer which will help him build up a herd on his 300-acre farm just outside the capital city.

He also was given an illuminated scroll congratulating on his 50th birthday and his 23rd year of public life.

The celebration was billed as a public birthday party for the premier, and not just as Social Credit affair, but most of those present were Social Creditors. Never the less, we can't recall Social Creditors throwing such an informal fling before.

The crowd listened with mild surprise as Municipal Affairs Minister Ald Hooke (an Albert and the Lion style monologue based on the premier's life. It wasn't quite what you'd expect a colleague to say about a man who has impressed everyone with his quiet dignity. It opened like this:

"On 20th day of September,
In year nineteen hundred and eight
A stork who was working near Carnduff
Dropped a bundle at Manning's front gate.

"They rushed out and unwrapped the package
To look at this tiny wee dear;
They 'ad to look twice just to find 'im --
Crops were short in Saskatchewan that year.

"Is dad's were madder than blazes;
'e felt like a bit of a dunce;
'twere a female that's were expecting --
'e'd already dun this thing once."

It went of like that for 38 verses, with heavy stress on the human, folkay side of the premier's life, with such choice quips as:

"But some 'oo don't know 'im as we do
Say what a staid fellow is 'e!
Well, that I shall 'ave to agree with--
'e's stayed a premier since year '43."

It went over big with everyone, the premier included.

Whether it was deliberately planned that way was anyone's guess, but any effort to popularize the premier in the eyes of us common folk should pay dividends for Social Credit. There's a feeling among some followers that he's been on a pedestal for too long.

(cont'd next column.)

Ken Mason's Column:

This, of course, isn't entirely his fault. His full 23 years of public life have been spent in the cabinet, where he hasn't had too much time to get out and mingle with the voters.

They rarely see him except at political meetings or at public functions when he attends in an official capacity. They hear him on the radio as a politician or as a preacher, but seldom as a man who lives and works with them. His social contacts have been confined pretty well to political colleagues and religious associates.

There are many members and officials of the party who agree that Manning's leadership has been the main factor behind Social Credit's success in Alberta. So it follows that anything which will increase his popularity will also increase the party's chances of a return to power in the next election.

BOOST FOR TEACHERS -- The government had good news for schoolteachers last week. Legislation will be introduced next year to raise their pensions to the level of those paid to retired civil servants. The new plan will calculate pensions on the basis of two per cent of salary per year of service, instead of the present 12 per cent. Result: a teacher with the maximum 35 years of service will receive 70 per cent of salary.

LIBERALS LOSE HAWRELAK -- Edmonton's Mayor Hawrelak made it official last week -- he won't be running for the provincial Liberal Party leadership. He said his responsibilities to the citizens of Edmonton, as well as family considerations, make it impossible. At one time high-ranking Liberals felt Hawrelak was the man to lead the party to victory. He combines a farm background with a successful career in civic politics and some strong feelings about provincial-municipal relations. His decision leaves Grant MacEwan, MLA for Calgary, as strongest contender for the position.

FREIGHT RATE BATTLE -- Watch for a new attack by the province in the battle against skyrocketing freight rates. Premier Manning is preparing a direct appeal to Prime Minister Diefenbaker. He says a 33 per cent rate increase sought by the railways will be borne almost 100 per cent by the provinces and the Maritimes. If the railways are important to the national economy, he says, they should be subsidized by Ottawa. This shares the burden among all Canadians. At last reports, eight provinces were jirding to fight the railways' application.

Thanksgiving

THANKSGIVING.

This is a song of Thanksgiving,
The song of a grateful heart.
We thank Thee, Lord, we are living,
In this land that does impart
Blessings, temporal, abundant,
Heaped up, piled high,
Running over, redundant.

This is the song we are singing,
As we rise to our daily task.
We thank Thee, Lord, thou art bringing
Riches, far more than we ask.
Blessings, spiritual, abundant,
Heaped up, piled high,
Running over, redundant.

At this season of the year we need to pause long enough to remember how good the Lord has been to us.

The Symbol of Thanksgiving has always been the Cornucopia, filled to overflowing with good things.

The symbol of the cornucopia is very good, for the blessings we enjoy in this land of ours are manifold, in fact they are past all computing; they are like the primary meaning of "redundant"
"overflowing like waves".

David, the sweet singer of Israel, was one of the first to sing the Thanksgiving
Song: "The lilies are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage. I will bless the Lord..."
(Psalms 16:6,7)

Every year about this time Mr. George Wallace becomes noticeably restless so it will be no surprise if he wings off to Penikese to spend the winter months.

Stony Plain Divisional Board has just announced that they will make a grant of two hundred dollars to the Drayton Valley Community Library for new books. Student membership in the library is increasing at a gratifying rate.

Drayton Valley school children will enjoy holidays next week while their teachers attend convention of Tuesday and Wednesday.

1958 CHEVROLET APACHE II SUBURBAN CARRYALL

Featuring an improved economy six cylinder engine that gives up to 16 per cent better fuel mileage along with increased torque at low and medium speeds, the 1958 Chevrolet Suburban Carryall offers economical transportation of personnel and equipment. For light or bulky load operations, a further economy option, consisting of a special carburetor with lesser mixture and a lower numerical axle ratio is offered. Rear brakes are larger with 10 1/2 inches more lining area for better braking, longer life, and cooler operation. The Carryall is available with either two- or four-wheel drive. It is easily equipped as a small bus for churches, clubs, schools, and similar organizations.

INDIFFERENCE- Enemy of the People, For the People, By the People.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F.B.I. may be considered as one of America's leading Christians of this century. In an article entitled, "Secularism- A Breeder of Crime" Mr Hoover draws attention to the fact that the law enforcement agencies look to the Ministers of the nation as allies in the fight against the forces that threaten the security of the nation. He goes on to say:

"But the task is gigantic because, through indifference, hypocrisy, or a lackadaisical attitude God has been clocked out of too many homes, schools, and entire communities. Proof that large numbers of our people have turned away from God can be found in the sordid record of crime and in the predominance of a materialistic way of life which has headily become more evident each year since the turn of the century."

It would seem reasonable for our law enforcement agencies to look not only to the Ministers of the nation but also to all law-abiding citizens as allies in the fight against crime. Such is not always the case. One would expect that in a christian society each citizen would be anxious to co-operate with their policeman in the fulfillment of their responsibility. It we are to build and maintain a peaceful society, free from the fear of criminal activity we must display and attitude of co-operation with those who devote their full time to the maintenance of an orderly and peaceful society.

The Christian cannot live a life of detachment from the social order. He lives within the social order and he has a part to play within it. He has a responsibility to the civil state in which he lives which does not necessarily transcend his responsibility to God. The attitude of indifference and hypocrisy toward God which J. Edgar Hoover draws to our attention manifests itself in the church, the community, and the nation, as well as the home. Each of us should endeavor to develop an attitude of respect for the work of others. We should recognize the fact that God has given each of us a very important task to do. It seems self evident that we should co-operate with each other in our respective areas of endeavor. Christianity is a practical religion, it is meant to be practised, not just be ministers, but by policemen, carpenters, truck drivers, executives, roughnecks, tool pushers, bookkeepers, housewives, stenographers, businessmen, etc.

Only by shaking off our attitude of indifference toward God and by co-operating with one another can we hope to achieve a truly Christian social order.

RED CROSS CANVASSERS.

Many people know of the vital help which is given by the Red Cross Society, and especially of the "Open Heart Surgery" which is performed in Edmonton.

This is assisted in many ways, by the blood, and in other ways, made possible through the Red Cross Society.

It is known that a blood transfusion is given every 15 minutes in the Province of Alberta. This is free to all who need it.

To help the Red Cross Society, canvassers from local organizations will be coming around to the various homes and places of business in Drayton Valley in the very near future. Please give them your support.

RECREATION BOARD HOLD MEETING.

The Drayton Valley Recreation Board held a meeting in the Conservation Board office to meet with Mr Jack Reid and Mrs Ponech of the Cultural Activities Branch. The organization of Crafts, leather and copper tooling in particular, was outlined. Personal contact will be made with all who have shown interest in the Crafts, regarding an organizational meeting.

The urgency of organizing teen-age activity brought forth lively discussion and it is hoped that anyone interested in helping with the teen-agers will make themselves known to the Board.

The Board is looking forward to the concrete floor being installed in the Recreation Building in order that year round use may be made of the building.

The next meeting will be held on October 22nd. in the Conservation Board office. Sent in By: Mrs Jean Bosworth Publicity Chairman.

FRACTIONATING PLANT OPERATES

The huge fractionating plant on the east side of the river, near Buck Creek, which has been under construction for the past year was completed recently, and with most of the machinery and refining and fractionating units already installed, got into production during the past week.

Processing from all the liquids coming into the plant from the eight stations throughout the field began and the sale of the products is underway.

For the present time the liquids are being transported to the loading station in Breton by tank truck; they will soon be taken to the loading station by pipeline.

In the past week Mr. Bass, president of Bass and Son Company, who are the parent company under which Goliad Ltd. and Goliad Oil and Gas operate, accompanied by Mr. Wells, chairman of the Board, were at the plant site on a tour of inspection. Main office for Goliad Ltd. and Goliad Oil and Gas is in Calgary, and most of the directors of the two companies are Canadian.

With the plant getting into production to produce propane, methane, ethane, butane and iso-butane there should be no shortage of propane in this area again, as the plant can adequately take care of all the needs along those lines now.

The plant will also produce a 12 lb. vapor-pressure natural gasoline. The company is all set to deliver the rest of the natural gas to Northwestern Utilities Company as soon as they are ready to behave in the field. As soon as gas distribution to Northwestern Utilities starts the gas flares now lighting the night skies will cease except for an occasional outlying battery, before lines are laid to it to conserve the gas and conduct it to the fractionating plant.

In the process of conserving the natural gas from this field between 2 and 3 hundred miles of pipeline, ranging in size from 3" to 16" has been installed, with both the Brembana and the Saskatchewan Rivers crossed twice with submarine crossings. Over twenty millions of dollars has been spent in the process.

Poole-Fritchard built the fractionating plant; Brown and Root built the other plants throughout the field and Goliad Construction had the main contract for the huge pipeline gathering system which was sub-let out to other companies, most of whom have local offices. All the phases of the huge project were originally scheduled to be completed in about a year, and the production schedule, aided by a summer of unusually good weather, was right on time. The Alberta Gas and Oil Conservation Board had originally set a dead-line on the cessation of the flaring of gas in this field for November 1st, of this year. Apparently that schedule will be maintained, as the project is now well in hand and almost completed.

The some twenty millions of dollars expended to put the gas gathering into operation by the various oil companies operating in this field who are a company to the gas-gathering agreement is but a part of the tremendous investment of over 700 millions of dollars which has actually been expended in this field or which is proposed for the immediate future.

This huge sum is almost a quarter of a billion more money than has been spent on the St. Lawrence Seaway, which has seen the sum of between 450 and 500 millions of dollars spent on that national project; in this field, however, private capital entirely has invested the close-to-three quarter billion dollars to put the field into productivity.

After the construction phase of the gas gathering project is over there will be about fifty permanent employees here to operate the eight plants throughout the field and the main fractionating plant.

ROAD BUILT TO BRAZEAU RIVER. A road to give winter access to the area where Calgary Power are conducting surveys along the Brazeau River to determine the feasibility of putting a dam, or series of dams on the river, is being put in by Curtis Harris of Lodgepole.

The road takes off from the Forestry Road, west of Brazeau tower and runs south and west to the Brazeau.
